

web3 InsurTech Foundation

Contributor Agreement

We require that contributors to the web3 InsurTech Foundation (as defined below) agree to this web3 InsurTech Foundation Project Contributor Agreement (W3IFPCA) to ensure that contributions to web3 InsurTech Foundation have acceptable licensing terms.

This web3 InsurTech Foundation Project Contributor Agreement ("Agreement") is entered into between the undersigned contributor ("You") and the web3 InsurTech Foundation ("Project"), an open-source initiative governed under the Apache License, Version 2.0 ("Apache 2.0 License"). By signing this Agreement, You acknowledge and agree to the following terms:

1. Purpose of Agreement

The purpose of this Agreement is to ensure that all contributions made by You to the Project are governed under the Apache 2.0 License, providing a clear framework for the use, modification, and distribution of your contributions while protecting both You and the Project.

The W3IFPCA is not a copyright assignment agreement. The W3IFPCA does not somehow supersede the existing licensing terms that apply to W3IF contributions. There are two important subpoints here. First, the W3IFPCA does not apply to upstream code and content (or other material) that you didn't write; indeed, it would be preposterous for it to attempt to do so. Note the narrow way in which we have defined capital-c "Contribution". Second, the main provision of the W3IFPCA specifies that a default license will apply to code and content that you wrote, but only to the extent that you have not bothered to put an explicit license on it. Therefore, the W3IFPCA is not some sort of special permissive license granted to any party, despite the explicit choice of a more restrictive license by you or by upstream developers and content authors.

2. Definitions.

"CC-BY-SA" means the Creative Commons Attribution-ShareAlike 4.0 International license, as published at <<https://creativecommons.org/licenses/by-sa/4.0/legalcode>>.

"Code" means (i) software code, (ii) any other functional material whose principal purpose is to control or facilitate the building of packages, such as an RPM spec file, (iii) font files, and (iv) other kinds of copyrightable material that the Fedora Council has classified as "code" rather than "content".

"Content" means any copyrightable material that is not Code, such as, without limitation, (i) non-functional data sets, (ii) documentation, (iii) wiki edits, (iv) music files, (v) graphic image files, (vi) help files, (vii) presentations, and (viii) other kinds of copyrightable material that the W3IF Council has classified as "content" rather than "code".

"Contribution" means a Work that You created, excluding any portion that was created by someone else. (For example, if You Submit a package to W3IF, the spec file You write may be a Contribution, but all the upstream code in the associated SRPM that You did not write is not a Contribution for purposes of this W3IFPCA.) A Contribution consists either of Code or of Content.

"Current Default License", with respect to a Contribution, means (i) if the Contribution is Code, the Apache License 2.0, and (ii) if the Contribution is Content, CC-BY-SA.

"W3IFPCA" means the community project led by the web3 InsurTech Foundation.

"W3IF Community" means (i) all web3 InsurTech Foundation participants and (ii) all persons receiving Contributions directly or indirectly from or through web3 InsurTech Foundation.

"Licensed" means covered by explicit licensing terms that are conspicuous and readily discernible to recipients.

"Apache License 2.0" means the license identified as "Modern Style with sublicense" at <<https://www.apache.org/licenses/LICENSE-2.0>>.

"Submit" means to use some mode of digital communication (for example, without limitation, mailing lists, bug tracking systems, and source code version control systems administered by W3IF) to voluntarily provide a Contribution to W3IF.

"Unlicensed" means not Licensed.

"Work" means a copyrightable work of authorship. A Work may be a portion of a larger Work, and a Work may be a modification of or addition to another Work.

"You" means the individual accepting this instance of the W3IFPCA.

3. Your Contributions

"Contributions" means any original work of authorship, including any modifications or additions to existing work, that is intentionally submitted by You to the Project. Contributions include, but are not limited to:

- Whitepapers
- Presentations
- Diagrams
- Policies
- Audio/Video Media (podcasts, YouTube videos)
- Code
- Documentation
- Design assets
- Bug reports, feature requests, or other suggestions
- Intellectual Property

agree that:

1. Your Contributions will be made under the terms of the Apache 2.0 License.
2. You will not submit work that violates any intellectual property, proprietary, or privacy rights of any third party.

3. License and Rights

By submitting your Contributions, You:

1. Grant the Project and its users a perpetual, worldwide, non-exclusive, royalty-free, irrevocable license under the Apache 2.0 License to use, copy, modify, merge, publish, distribute, sublicense, and/or sell copies of the Contributions.
2. Represent and warrant that You are legally authorized to grant this license and that your Contributions do not infringe on the rights of any third party.
3. Retain ownership of your Contributions while allowing others to freely use, modify, and distribute them under the terms of the Apache 2.0 License.
4. Copyright Permission Required for All Contributions.
 - a. If You are not the copyright holder of a given Contribution that You wish to Submit to the W3IF (for example, if Your employer or university holds copyright in it), it is Your responsibility to first obtain authorization from the copyright holder to Submit the Contribution under the terms of this W3IFPCA on behalf of, or otherwise with the permission of, that copyright holder. One form of such authorization is for the copyright holder to place, or permit You to place, an Acceptable License For W3IF on the Contribution.
5. Licensed Contributions.

- a. If Your Contribution is Licensed, Your Contribution will be governed by the terms under which it has been licensed.
6. Default Licensing of Unlicensed Contributions.
 - a. If You Submit an Unlicensed Contribution to W3IF the license to the W3IF Community for that Contribution shall be the Current Default License.

The W3IF Council may, by public announcement, subsequently designate an additional or alternative default license for a given category of Contribution (a "Later Default License"). A Later Default License shall be chosen from the appropriate categorical sublist of Acceptable Licenses For W3IF.

Once a Later Default License has been designated, Your Unlicensed Contribution shall also be licensed to the W3IF Community under that Later Default License. Such designation shall not affect the continuing applicability of the Current Default License to Your Contribution.

You consent to having W3IF provide reasonable notice of Your licensing of Your Contribution under the Current Default License (and, if applicable, a Later Default License) in a manner determined by W3IF.

4. Your Protection

The Apache 2.0 License protects You as a contributor by:

1. Providing a disclaimer of warranties and limiting liability for any issues arising from the use of the Project, including your Contributions.
 2. Ensuring that anyone who redistributes your Contributions complies with the same terms of the license.
-

5. Your Obligations

As a contributor, You agree to:

1. Follow the Project's contribution guidelines and coding standards.
2. Ensure your Contributions are your original work or that You have obtained appropriate permissions to submit them.
3. Clearly indicate if your Contribution is based on or contains work licensed under a different open-source license and provide appropriate attribution and documentation.
4. Respond promptly to any questions about your Contributions, including clarifications or licensing issues.

6. Acknowledgment

By signing this Agreement, You acknowledge that:

1. You have read and understood the terms of the Apache 2.0 License and the CC-BY-SA
2. You agree to submit all Contributions under its terms.
3. The Project maintainers reserve the right to review, reject, or modify Contributions as necessary.

You must signify Your assent to the terms of this W3IFPCA through specific electronic means established by W3IF (such as by click-through acceptance means).

You may also, at Your option, and without eliminating the requirement set forth in the preceding paragraph, send a copy of this W3IFPCA, bearing Your written signature indicating Your acceptance of its terms, by email to legal@w3if.org or by postal mail to:

W3IF Legal
c/o web3 InsurTech Foundation Inc.
17300-1208 Boca Blub Blvd
Boca Raton, FL, 33487

7. Signatures

By signing below, You agree to the terms of this Contributor Agreement:

Contributor:	Maintainer (on behalf of the Web3 InsurTech Foundation):
Name: _____	Name: _____
Email: _____	Role: _____
Signature: _____	Signature: _____
Date: _____	Date: _____
GitHub/Username (optional): _____	